

Risk Management for Poultry and Rabbit Farming

Thursday, May 23, 2024 · 1-4 pm · FREE
Royal Grazers Farm, Warfield, VA

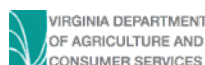

Poultry and rabbits are great to raise in a small area and with limited resources. Like any business, cuniculture (rabbit) and fowl farming have risks to consider and minimize. Paul Wilson will share the challenges he has overcome as a beginning farmer raising poultry, rabbits and vegetable crops, including housing, health, feed cost, marketing, predators, recordkeeping and personal goals. You will also learn the synergistic benefits of having a diversified farm. This workshop will have a relaxed atmosphere, and you can bring your questions and related experiences about how you have solved high-risk situations associated with raising vegetables, rabbits and poultry.
